

The background of the image is a grayscale circuit board pattern. It features a network of black lines representing traces, with several circular nodes or vias. A prominent white horizontal bar spans the width of the image, serving as a background for the company name.

MCS GEOTECH (P) LTD

Web based application Development & Solutions

Our custom web applications to help companies grow their business online.

Allow customers to mix-and-match, compare or choose a best-suited product/solution

Customize solutions with configurators based on pre-set permutations & combinations

Connect with the customer's interests and generate qualified leads

Build credibility by giving the power of decision-making to the customer

Why choose us for your custom web application development?

Usability

We put user behaviour to use when it comes to designing custom web applications that work. After all, successful web applications have simplistic user interface (UI) design that requires minimal or no guidance to its end-user. More importantly, rich graphical user-interface for your web-applications can ensure better conversions and happier customers.

Architecture

A flexible-yet-robust architecture makes life simpler by reducing time and costs of scalability. The framework of a custom web application is as critical as the application itself. Ensuring optimal security and backend intelligence to track user logs makes an application fool-and-fraud-proof.

Understanding

We are all ears to you, and your customers who ultimately use the application. Going by our earlier associations, we make great partners as we take time to understand and connect with your requirements – so as to always give you the best suited solutions.

Understanding

We are all ears to you, and your customers who ultimately use the application. Going by our earlier associations, we make great partners as we take time to understand and connect with your requirements – so as to always give you the best suited solutions.

Understanding

We are all ears to you, and your customers who ultimately use the application. Going by our earlier associations, we make great partners as we take time to understand and connect with your requirements – so as to always give you the best suited solutions.

Scalability

Our expertise in mobile app development can help you scale your application from web to mobile and tablet platforms. We have expertise in building enterprise level apps on both Android and iOS platforms.

Kinds of custom web applications we design and develop

Order management and order processing for retail websites

Timesheet Management System with custom alerts, reports, graphs and charts

Data Mining Applications and Custom Report generation

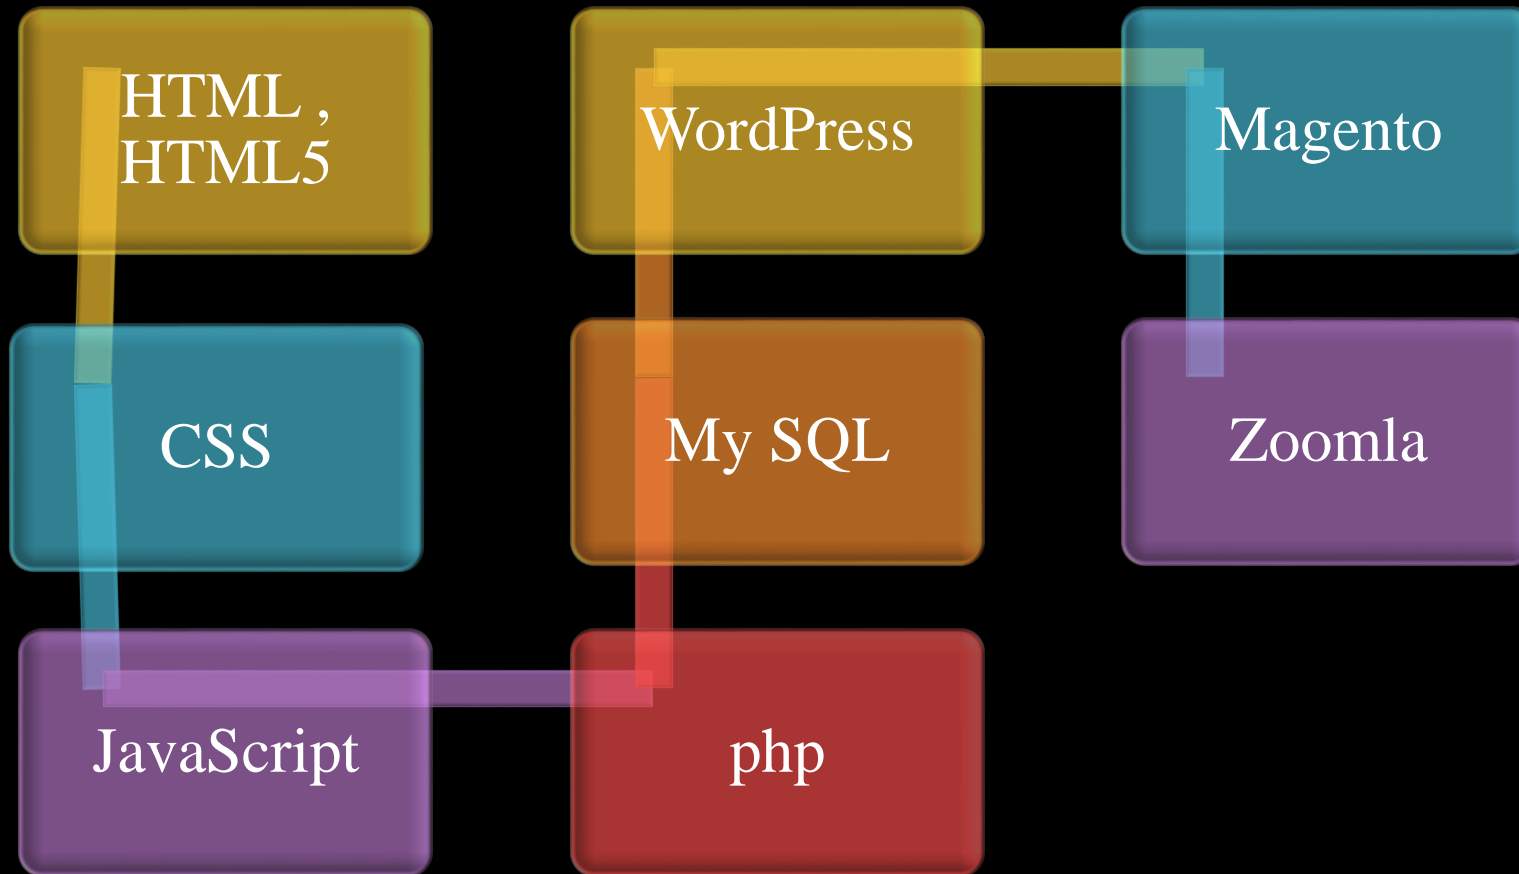

Targeted auto-response emailers triggered from pre-defined functions

Integration with SMS Gateway, Web to Mobile App and vice-versa

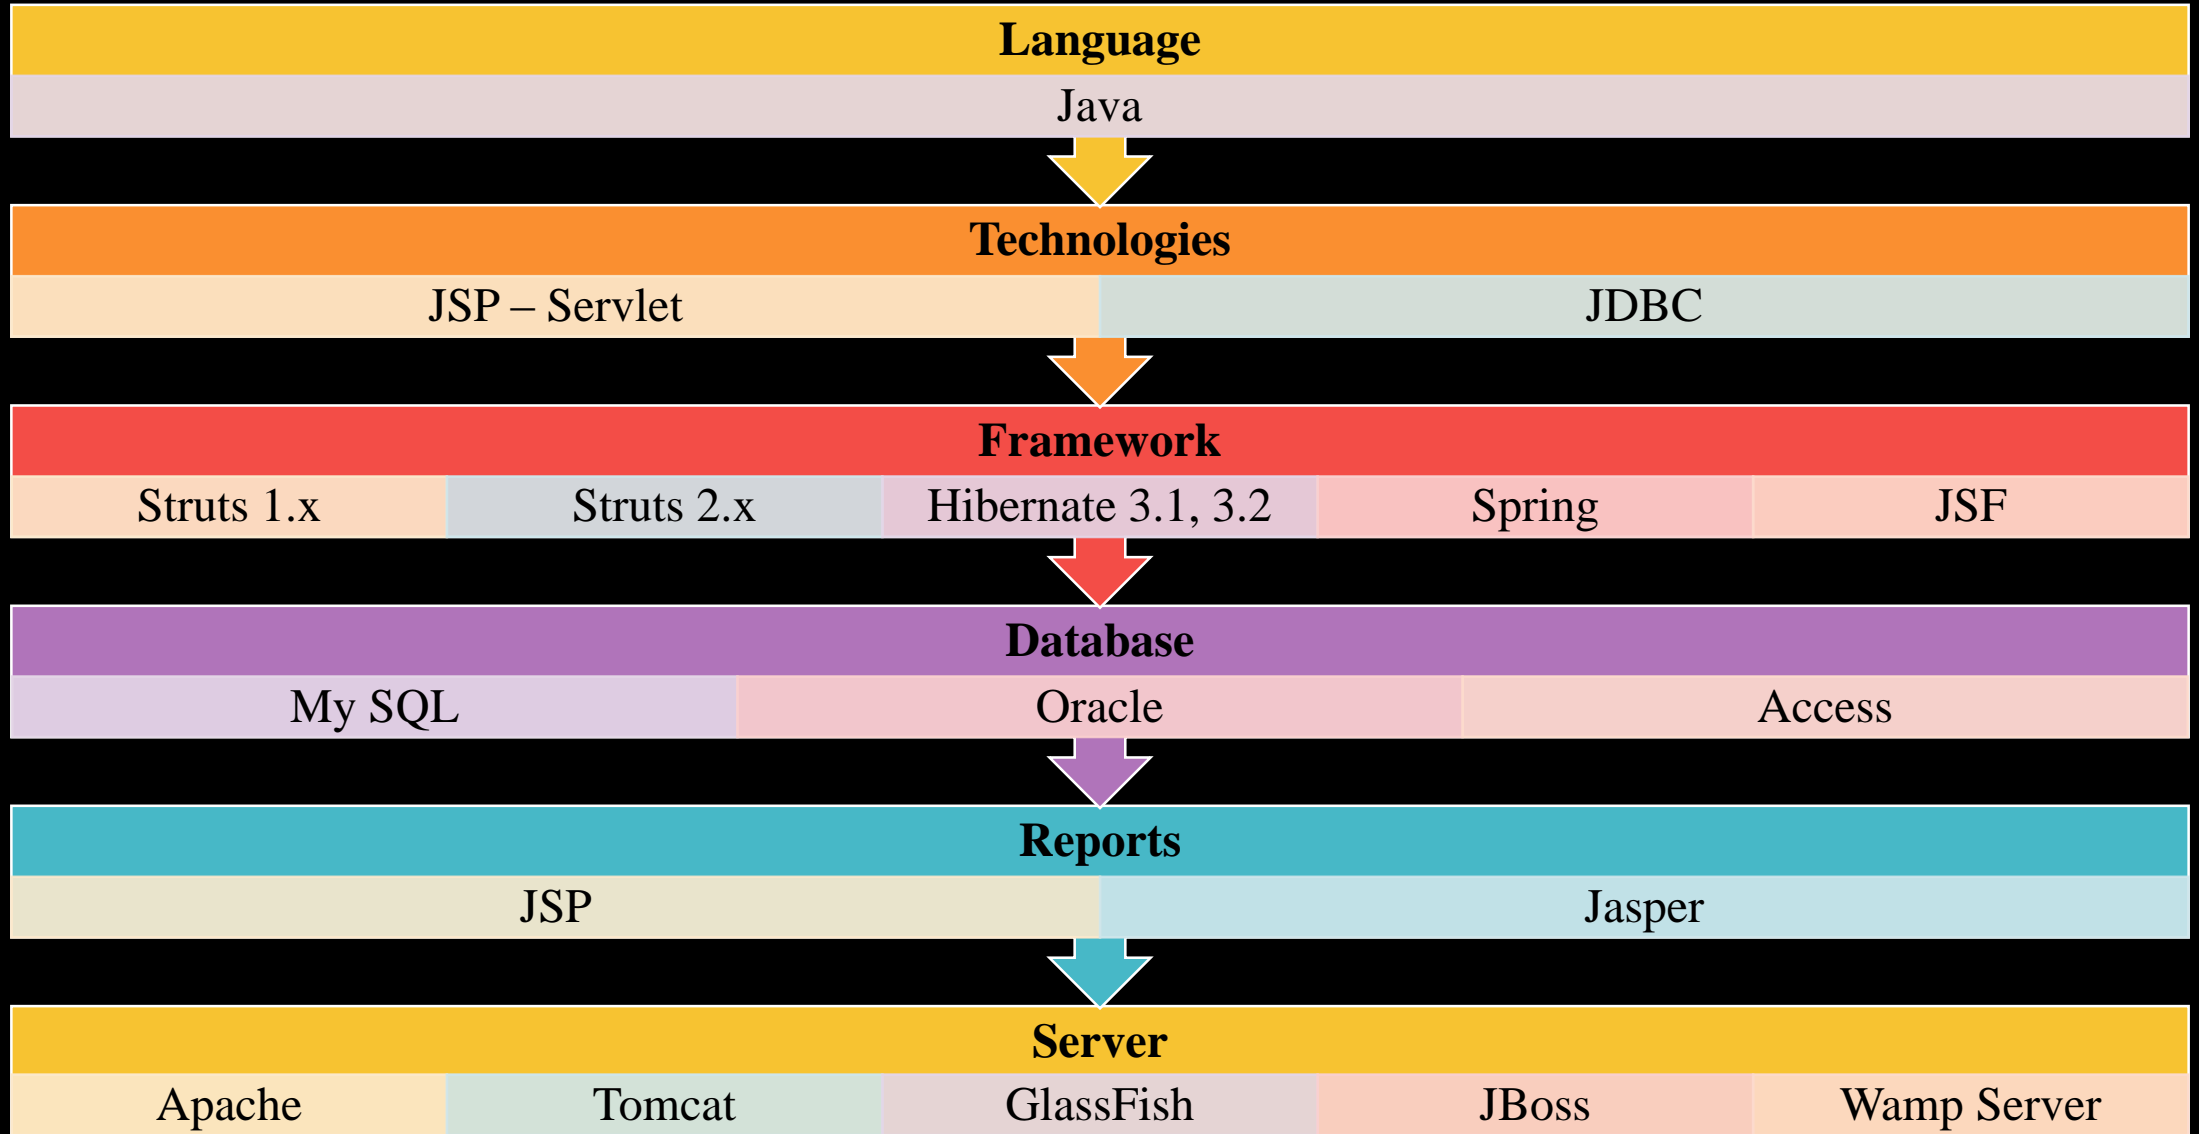

Web application user interface design and application re-engineering (redesign & develop)

Custom Report Generation

Web Portal Technologies & Frameworks used

Web Application Development- Framework Used

Let us know your needs?

www.mcsgeotech.com

0522 – 2287038,
0522 - 4017007

Email Us

info@mcsgeotech.com